Do you have a primary care provider (PCP)?

When it comes to good health, there's one medical professional you simply can't do without: a primary care provider (PCP).

Your PCP helps you stay healthy

A PCP does more than help you feel better when you are sick. He or she is your main health care provider and will help keep you healthy. Your PCP will partner with you to catch small health problems before they become serious and make sure you're up-to-date on potentially lifesaving screening tests.

Here's why you need one

Over time, your PCP will also get to know you as a person so that you feel comfortable talking about anything that's bothering you—physically or emotionally. Studies show that people who have an ongoing relationship with a PCP are more likely to live longer than those who do not.

Different types of primary care providers

Family medicine practitioners – Care for people of all ages, from newborns to seniors; often seeing members of the same family.

Internists – Care for adults of all ages. Their expertise allows them to manage complex medical situations, especially in adults with multiple conditions.

Pediatricians – Care for newborns, infants, children and adolescents.

Nurse practitioners (NPs) – Provide a number of health care services, including prescribing medications and diagnosing a variety of illnesses and injuries.

Physician assistants (PAs) – Care for patients under the supervision of a doctor and are trained to provide many of the same health care services a doctor performs, including doing physical exams, prescribing medications, and ordering lab tests and x-rays.

BHS Primary Care

BHS Primary Care physicians provide a broad range of services and take pride in developing trusting relationships with patients and their families.

Long-term relationships between primary care physicians (PCPs) and patients aren't just "nice to have" — they can also improve the quality of care. In addition to the wide range of services provided by PCPs, they have a central role in coordinating your healthcare needs. The better they understand your health history, the more effective they can be in helping to diagnose and treat problems while helping you achieve the healthiest possible quality of life.

Currently accepting new patients at these convenient locations.

Mohs micrographic surgery is a highly specialized state-of-the-art treatment for skin cancer. Mohs differs from other treatments for skin cancer by combining surgical removal of the affected skin with microscopic analysis of the tissue that day. This helps to ensure that all of the cancer has been removed, while leaving the surrounding healthy skin intact and unharmed.

Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) is a team-based treatment model that provides multidisciplinary, flexible treatment and support to people with severe and persistent mental illness 24/7. ACT is based around the idea that people receive better care when their mental health care providers work together. ACT team members help individuals address every aspect of their life, whether it be medication, therapy, social support, employment or housing. ACT is typically used for people who have transferred out of an inpatient setting but would benefit from a similar level of care and having the comfort of living a more independent life than would be possible with inpatient care.

For information on this program or how to refer an individual, please call 724-968-5310.

BHS Foundation is pleased to launch a memorial recognition program for loved ones who have passed away.

For all cumulative memorial gifts of $500 or more made in a loved one's memory, you can place a memorial plaque on the display located on the second floor of Butler Memorial Hospital (near cafeteria).

This is a beautiful way to memorialize your loved ones and create a lasting memorial tribute to them. You can support one of the great causes listed below. Return this form, along with a high resolution photo.
